

COVID-19 Vaccination Information

Vaccination is an additional protection for all workers against Covid-19 including the Delta variant.

Employers that may ask their workers to work under emergency situations such as plumbers, electricians, builders, temporary traffic management and roofers should prioritise themselves and their workers to be vaccinated.

Employers and Managers should communicate the facts and benefits of COVID vaccination to workers.

Businesses should support workers to receive the vaccine. It is in their best interest to do so in that it is an additional preventative control that will prevent transmission of the virus and minimise business disruption.

With the workers consent, employers are encouraged to keep a confidential record of their vaccination status. Even an initial vaccination assists in controlling the health effects of COVID-19.

Details around how to book or register for a vaccine are available here.

If a worker has not been vaccinated (through choice or medical exemption) or has chosen not to disclose their vaccination status:

- Employers should have a conversation with these workers about their situation and talk through how they can work safely (which may include a risk assessment), and what controls are in place to enable a return to work.

Guidance on work only to be conducted by vaccinated workers is available from WorkSafe here.
